To the Members of the 46th Parliament,

Climate change is a threat to Australia, with immediate and accelerating impacts to our environment, economy and way of life. Australia is starting to experience more severe and frequent bushfires, droughts, floods and heatwaves. Last summer's bushfires showed Australia the worst of those impacts.

At the same time the COVID-19 pandemic has pushed Australia into recession for the first time in thirty years. The pandemic has been a prelude to the kind of disruption that climate change will entail over the coming years but has also offered the prospect of recovering in a sustainable way.

With time to address global emissions disappearing, we must address both COVID-19 and climate change simultaneously. However, if we act decisively on both, Australia will benefit from added growth and employment opportunities.

The Climate Change (Adaptation and Mitigation) Bill 2020 is a sensible national response to the challenge of climate change. The core pillars of a net zero target by 2050 (with the ability to be ratcheted up in line with the most recent science), national risk assessments and adaptation plans, technology readiness assessment and an independent advisory commission have been endorsed by peak associations across sectors.

The legislation, if adopted as a bipartisan measure, would assist the private and public sector in decision making. It would also reassure the Australian community that the Government is on the right track with addressing climate change over time in a fiscally responsible way.

We are calling on all members of the Federal Parliament to consider and adopt this bill in the national interest. We must ensure that Australia has a comprehensive bipartisan law to address the challenge of our times. If we get this right, we can ensure a safe and prosperous future for all.
